"The qualifications for self-government in society are not innate. They are the result of habit and long training." (letter to Edward Everett, 1824)

Thomas Jefferson co-wrote and signed the Declaration of Independence. He was the third President of the United States.